Rooted in soul.
Built for the room.

Tom James is a London-based singer-songwriter and guitarist whose voice carries the warm, lived-in grit of blues and soul alongside the storytelling craft of classic Americana. Classically trained with over fifteen years of live performance behind him, Tom has developed a sound that feels both intimate and undeniable — the kind that stops a room mid-conversation.

A social media breakthrough in 2024 brought his artistry to over 334,000 followers across Instagram and TikTok. Influences run deep: Chris Stapleton's raw power, Teddy Swims' soulful precision, the earthy warmth of Van Morrison. The result is a performer equally at home holding a wedding ceremony in silence or bringing a corporate gala to its feet.

Tom has performed as resident artist at Quaglino's and 100 Wardour Street, appeared at festivals across the UK, sung at the Royal Albert Hall, Royal Opera House, and Hyde Park, and regularly performs at high-end restaurants, private members' clubs, and cocktail bars across London and internationally.

Stages that demand presence.

From 300-capacity venues to candlelit ceremony rooms, Tom brings the same commitment to every performance — an instinctive read of the room, an adaptable set, and the kind of vocal quality you don't find on most event bills.
